There was nothing new in Wall street to-day. Quota tions for some of the fancies were unsettled and feverish while others advanced a fraction. At the first board Delaware and Hudson declined 1 per cent; Panama Railread,1; New Haven Railroad, ¼; Harlem, ¼. Hudson River Ballroad advanced % per cent; Canton Company, %; Nicaragua, 1, at the opening, but closed at yesterday's prices; Phenix Coal Company, 14; Eric Rallroad, 14 Chere was a small transaction in Dauphin Coal Company at an advance of 3 per cent from the previous sale. It opears as though the market was gradually settling upon the present level. The daily fluctuations do not amount to much, and the decline of to-day is recovered. The buils do not seem to have the power to put prices up, or the bears the power to put them down. Meanwhile, all the unproductive fancies are steadily increasing in cost by the accumulation of interest, which requires higher prices to remunerate holders. All this the bears have

At the second board there was not much change in the market. Phenix Coal Company advanced % per cent. New Jersy Zine declined % per cent ; Harlem, 14 ; Reading Railroad, 16; Stonington, 16; Eric Railroad, 16; all others closed at prices current at the first board.

The President of the Ohio Life and Trust Company has issued the annexed circular relative to certain acts recently passed by the Legislature of Ohio, which are coneldered oppressive and unconstitutional, and will be resisted:—

The Ome Left Insurance and Trust Company. }
Cincinnate, Monday, April 12, 1852. }
Sui:—The Legislature of the State of Ohio, by an act passed on the 21st March, 1851, levied a tax on this company, (conflicting with its legal and vested rights.) which the Board of Trustees is unanimously of opinion is illegal and oppressive, and the validity of which is now being contested in the lower courts of this State. Another bill, of a similar character, though more oppressive, has recently passed our Legislature. This latter it is also the determination of the Board of Trustees to resist, appeading, if needful, to the highest tribunal of the country, where they are confident of a favorable result, and in this opinion they are sustained by the first legal talent of this State. The contest will be attended with some trouble and expense; but there appears to be no way of evading it.

The Board of Trustees deem it advisable to place you in possession of the above facts, as there is no doubt the legislative action above referred to will disturb the public mind as to the value of the stock. Per order of the Trustees.

C. STETSON, President.

JONATHAN W. ALLEN,

JOHN DE LAMATER,

GEO. H. PURSER,

NEW YORK, MAY 1, 1372.—MR. J. G. BENNETT—SIR:

The public may not be aware of the fact, but the Daily Times, of this city, is an exceedingly well informed journal on all municipal matters, and is consequently entitled to vast consideration in consequence, as the following paragraph from that print on Saturday, will show—"Ostensibly we have an officer called the Superintendent of Streets. At present it is filled we believe, by a Mr. Henry Arcularius. Whether he has any actual duties to perform or not—and especially whether he rorofesses to perform them—we have no authentic and reliable information. But so far as appears to the public, he might just so usefully take up his residence in Central Africa, as to remain in office here. If the present it is a some substitution of the public he might just so usefully take up his residence in Central Africa, as to remain in office here. If the present it is a some substitution of the public has the superintendance over them, we trust he will be specially translated to some sphere where his labors will be more welcome than they are with us." I am the clerk of the Superintendent of streets, whose name I believe to be Mr. George White, and I may be allowed to know something of the work that has been done in that bureau, since the list day of January last, when Mr. Henry Arcularius was sworn into office, as Commissioner of Streets and Lamps, who has in his department four bureaus; the partisulars of their respective duties I refer the curious portion of the public to the man of the Times. The quantity of manure, coal ashes, rubbies and dirt, collected and carted away, notwithstanding the draw back of the incessant storms we have been visited with, is two hundred and thirteen thousand five hundred and thirty-one

SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE NEW YORK HERALD. Beston, April 30, 1852. Opinions of his Speech-Failure in point of Eloquence-Backing down on the Intervention Point-Lecturing of Americans upon their Position and Duties-America in Terrible Danfrom the Hall.

The great speech of Kossuth has come off at Fanenil

Hall, and has very much disappointed expectation, as great efforts were spent upon it; and it was believed that in the capital of his favorite State he would make a brilliant display of oratory. On the whole the speech is regarded as a failure. In point of composition, the first part of it is good—the latter part is very indifferent, and bears the marks of haste, and also of a little triuming and time-serving, not being half so bold as usual. The people of Boston and its vicinity, having gratified their curiosity by seeing him on the day of procession, only wanted to satisfy the sense of hearing, and accordingly were upwards of 3:000 persons present, bonds being sold to the amount of $3:000. The reception of Koesuth was enthusiastic. Daniel Webster—as the opponent of free soil and anti-slavery agitation—was vehemently hissed by the same class of people who waved their familier of the property of people to be a proved the management of the second of the control of the cont price I had to pay this morning at Latridge & Co's. I had also to pay one dollar, or, in other words, to purchase a linugarian bend—value one straw—to gain admission last evening to the proceedings at Fanuell Hall. Such is the way those gentlemen, who pretend to be riceads of liberty, treat the press, whose freedom they hate, because they hate the light. Saveral of the papers here complain of their partiality in giving facilities only to their own partizans and the partizans of Kossuth, while they inrow every impediment in the way of those journals, and likely representatives, who have the misfortune to differ in opinion with them. Kossuth has said that he will take his last impression of this country from New England, and particularly Massachusetts and Boston. I hepe, when he goes to the old country, he will not say anything of the marrow minded, shabby, illiberal conduct of this legislative committee towards the press—for they are black caceptions to the general rule of the United States; but probably he approves of what they have done. Judging from his own course at Worcester, it is hard to come to any other conclusion. Such pairty littleness, however, would be received with no favor even in monarchial Bng iand, whose legislature and people at large could teach these gentlemen some lessons in good manners and liberality of sentiment. One of them was unmarchially hissed last night by the audience—a Mr. Alden—for his presumption in dictating to them in reference to hearing no more speakers till Kossuth came, after they had just listened to a speech from a heavy Senator, who weighed about 400 pounds. The committee "whipped the devit round the stump" in charging for admission to Fanuell Hall, for it is expressly centrary to law. Charging a dollar for a bond, which was necessary as a passport, was not exceeded in the world the devit round the stump" in charging for admission to Fanuell Hall, for it is expressly centrary to law. Boston, April 27, 1862. No Kossath Excitement in Boston-Lola and the "Quiet Horse"

-Mrs. Catharine N. Sincloir-her Personal Appearanceton Assurance-Boston Taste and Boston Cookery.

The good people of Boston could not manage to get up a Kossuth excitement, weigré all their efforts. A bright sun and a sharp wind ushered in the day, and Kossuth rode in on his "quiet horse," undisturbed by any noisy demonstrations, so that the telegraphic communication that a quiet animal might be procured to parade this Northern Massaniello through the streets was quite superfluous; for the enthusisem of the modern Athenians was too peaceable and classic to have disturbed the equanimity of the most susceptible and flery steed. However, we have learned at least one thing, that all Hungarians are not Mazeppas, for Koscuth is too much afreid of a fews per to ride unharmed through the steppes of Hungary. as did Byron's hero.

To tell the truth, Besten, just at the moment, s
